

Sant Bartomeu

Begin at the river starting point and after crossing the LV-4241b (leaving the Cabana del Geli neighbourhood) find a path on the left that goes up a little street with stairs. Going straight on, head for Sant Bartomeu hill.

A few metres after the beginning of the path, take another one with fields and farmhouses on both sides that create the peculiar landscape of this area. Further on, take a narrow steep path that goes up next to the house Mas ben Serè. At the top cross a little wood and upon exiting, pass a house on the right and take a narrow rocky path on the left. Continue up until the summit is reached. Little by little you will discover interesting panorama views of Solsona and the southern part of the Solsonès region. At the top there is the Sant Bartomeu cave, it is a small soil cavity surrounded by stone blocks of large dimensions.

Begin the descent at the highest place of the summit, behind the cave. Cross the woods until you reach a forest track. Leave this one, to take another that goes down on the left to a meadow. Continue down until you get to a path, which will lead to the Catalonia Forestry technological centre (CTFC) tarmac road. Go past the car park. Then take the road to the left and find the path where the route started, follow it back to the beginning.
